Layer Your Look This Winter

decorative pillows adorning your bed.

Have you thought about layering as a design strategy? It's a beautiful and practical trend that's growing in home fashion. Layering brings a mix of colors, textures and styles into perfect harmony and often provides important functionality.

Think soft rugs atop gleaming hardwood or tile floors in the living room and great room. Consider fluffy throws and textured pillows heaped on sleek sofas and, of course, lots of

Winter Decorating To-Do List

Warm Up Your Winter Decor

- Cozy up with warm throws made of cashmere or soft wool.
- Spruce up your fireplace experience with a decorative new screen or pinecone starters that sparkle with

At the window, layering is key too, for both fashion and function. The first layer can be a light-filtering one, providing the soft diffusion of light, or it can provide privacy and light control. A myriad of shades or blinds can fill this need. Then add a decorative layer to finish the look, with soft treatments such as valances, draperies or Roman shades.

You'll like the look when you layer your home fashions!

color. And always practice fireplace safety!

- Plan for more nights spent in, cocooning with a new book, DVDs of your favorite TV shows and movies, and a home-cooked meal. Try playing a game like Scrabble or Monopoly with your family.
- Bring winter bulbs into your home to add color and scent. Think paper whites, hyacinths and crocuses.
- Drape soft, thick throws and pillows on your couches and easy chairs to make your guests feel warm and toasty.
- Purchase beautiful, energy-efficient window fashions that can keep your house warm and add beauty every season of the year.

Did you know?

Rearranging your furniture can provide a new look and better function. Set up furniture close together so people can chat comfortably. Place couches and chairs facing each other or at right angles, with a table or ottoman nearby for stashing a glass of wine or a cup of tea.

Get Smart About Saving Energy

Energy costs can drain your budget this winter. Try these tips to conserve energy and save money.

- Turn down the thermostat - just three or four degrees can make a difference in your energy bill.
- Seal your doors with door snakes. These decorative cloth sacks are filled with rice or dried beans.
- Get a "tune-up" of your heating system to make sure it's working to its full efficiency. And change your furnace filters according to the schedule provided with your heating system.
- Replace your window coverings with energy-efficient Hunter Douglas Duette® honeycomb shades, especially the latest innovation, Duette Architella™ honeycomb shades. They feature a unique patented construction with a honeycomb nestled within a honeycomb, for greater energy efficiency and sound absorption - and they come in a radiant color palette.

Mount Pleasant, SC is your total window solution specialist.
