Customize Your Home For Holiday Enjoyment

Holiday Decorating To-Do List

Try these updates to give your home festive holiday flair:

- Add table linens and throw pillows in rich jewel tones, like deep ruby red, luscious emerald green and glorious golden amethyst.
- Purchase metallic accessories in gold, silver and bronze.
- Use candles and potpourri in pine and cinnamon scents, to bring back holiday memories from years past. And arrange candles around the house to soften the lighting needs that come with shorter days.
- Order window coverings that keep the warmth in and the cold out - and let in the outside light. Hunter Douglas Duette® honeycomb shades are an excellent choice.
- Fill big glass bowls with colorful ornaments, and add

Start preparing now!

To prepare for the holidays - and the onslaught of seasonal guests, many people just thoroughly clean the house and get out the decorations; while others make this the time for major redecorating and remodeling projects to last far beyond the holiday season.

It's not too soon to begin the countdown. Many decorator items - like carpeting, paint, furniture and window fashions - take time, so it's a good idea to plan early. We encourage you to give us a call now if you're planning to buy in time for the holidays.

Popular holiday projects include purchasing lamps, adding fresh paint, reupholstering furniture, ordering new custom bedding, and installing beautiful and energy-efficient window fashions. The holidays are a time to bring elegance, romance and tradition into your home, even if you live a casual lifestyle most of the year.

As the holidays approach, take time to bring a festive flair to your home. There's always one more accent piece that could finish your look beautifully. Or use the holidays as an excuse to start a major decorating or remodeling project. Either way, getting ready for the holidays will get you - and your guests - into the spirit of the season.

Start a New Tradition This Holiday!

Do you have a family member or friend who always hosts an annual get-together on the same occasion? This season begin your own party tradition - an annual celebration that you continue every year.

Your tradition doesn't have to fall exactly on a holiday.

Sometimes it's better to throw a party a few days before or after a holiday. People will be more in the mood for a relaxed celebration and not "partied out," as we all often feel in those hectic days around major holidays.

Think about kicking off the season with a pre-Thanksgiving weekend brunch or host a Christmas tree decorating party in early to mid December. Or plan your celebration to be the first party of the year - a few days after New Years when the hubbub has died down.

This holiday season, let the party begin - whatever the occasion you select for your new annual tradition!

Don't Know What To Give Your Hard-To-Buy-For Loved One for the Holidays?

- red berries or candy canes to your flower arrangements.
- Bring out your holiday dishes and tableware early this year. Buy some fun holiday cocktail napkins and towels to spice up the guest bath. You might as well enjoy your holiday linens and tableware for more than just a week or two!

Receive a $50 discount off your next purchase by signing up for Angie's List through us!
